The trial judge flayed him in delivering the sentence. S. E. J. Cox, another promoter, whose hobby was airplane flying and who built a machine to compete in the James Gordon Bennett Cup races in France a few years ago, was sentenced to 8 years and to pay a fine of $8,000. #### Officers Believe Blow Struck At Traffic In Wholesale Rum Running

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The rum runner Tomaka, captured by coast guards cutters off Seabright, N. J., was seized on direct orders from the department of justice, officials of the coast guard said. Instructions for prosecuting the case were telephoned to the United States attorney at New York this morning.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Federal agents today believed they had struck a vital blow at the West Indian rum running traffic.

Nine men were to be brought before Assistant Solicitor of the port of New York, Edward H. Barnes, during the day for questioning before being assigned in New Jersey before a United States commissioner on a charge of transporting liquor to the United States.

Thirteen include William S. McCoy, said by federal agents to be the "king" of West Indian rumrunners. McCoy and his companions were captured early yesterday outside the three-mile limit, when boats of the coast guard and revenue cutter service overhauled the British two-masted schooner Tomoka and seized 200 cases of whiskey which they said was the remainder of 4,200 cases the ship had brought from Nassau, Bahamas Islands.

Government boats were cruising off Seabright, N. J., on a tip that the Tomoka was laying in that vicinity when they picked up the rum runner well outside the three mile limit.

A signal to haul brought to response and immediately the Government cutters cut loose with three-round shots across the whiskey ship's bow.

Holton Test Is Drilling Rapidly

Rapid progress is announced in the drilling of the Humphreys Oil Company's No. 1 Holton three miles west of Groesbeck. It is now down approximately 2,000 feet. A rotary is being used. Considerable optimism is felt for this test, however, it is understood that the original purpose of its being drilled was to secure the gas for operations of the company through out the field. Nevertheless, drilling will be pursued with great care and attention to all formations. The location is about 600 feet east of a north and south line drawn from the Brown which blew in an enormous geyser and the Welch No. 2, which was, until lost, termed a small producer.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE

The subject of Sabbath observance is one that is winning the serious and sober thought of citizens wherever the ten commandments have been read. Citizens in their homes, business men at their posts of duty and public officials in office, men and women of all honorable walks of life have made an earnest study of just what is meant by a proper observance of this one day of the week. In this state, in other states, and in other nations, guided by the failures of fallen empires and faded pages of centuries that are no more, patriots anxious to help perpetuate America and to preserve a sturdy, stalwart citizenry have agreed on certain laws regarding the keeping of the Sabbath, which are as much a part of our fundamental order as any part of our constitution which is held in reverence by the thinking masses. Any community, county or people that permits the violation of laws governing the conduct of society on Sunday is not measuring up to the high trust imposed upon it by fellow citizens elsewhere who are their lives and customs guide. To keep rather than to make the Sabbath conform to their own choice is the duty.

The people of our age learned that when they began to rob nature they were robbing themselves and so Texas has kept her code of Sunday laws not only on the ten commandments, the basis of all codes of law, but also upon the laws of nature.

The violation of cessation from labor on one day out of seven is a daily recognized everywhere. In lands where men do not know the habit of barbarism and in the shade of savagery, in these climes where humanity is the result of the fundamental laws of civilization, labor laws have been passed that it can work in six days than it can in seven. Experiments have been made in all departments of human activity. The great Lord Chalmers said: "He could work his brains and his hands, but he broke down and consumed himself. Wilberforce said of him: 'Poor Chalmers! This is the result of the non observance of the Sabbath!'"

A great merchant once declared: "I should have been a manie long ago, but for the Sabbath." The brain the nerves, the entire physical, intellectual and moral nature cry out for the day of rest.

What is true of man is likewise true of the animal and lower creation. Travelers in the old days discovered that they reached their destinations sooner when they let their horses rest one day in seven, or the Sabbath, as the day agreed on by law and which is a reform to the horse procedure in commercial and industrial affairs. In the old days when the West was West, and when herdsmen drove their cattle and their sheep to distant markets, those who rested on Sunday arrived at their destinations sooner than those who passed on without observing the day of rest.

Fishermen along New England coast declare that their men during the Sabbath day.

Locomotive have to be changed on a long route and rested in between division points. The machinery would soon break down were it not for the application of this common sense rule of living and doing.

Intelligent men, dumb beast and dead machinery cry out for a Sabbath day of rest.

We hear a great deal, when discussing this subject, about personal liberty, the rights of the people, the doctrine of the legalized and open hotel and saloon.

Personal liberty, however, men are not ends for one individual whose interests interfere with the best interests of the other fellow. What would you think of a railroad that permitted its engineers to get on a train and start the locomotive down the track and then get off, leaving it to its own course? Even the engine needs guidance. Mankind likewise must not be permitted to run amuck through life without regard for the other fellow. Each train is given the right to run over a piece of track at a certain time without interference. That is liberty. But each train must be governed by rules and regulations. Frequently these rules are inconvenient but every good railroad man observes them. In the same way the liberty of every Texan and of every American depends upon certain laws which prevent others from interfering with him and at the same time prevent him from interfering with others.

The rights of the people, remember, are expressed in their laws. Laws regarding the observance of the Sabbath day are therefore the rights of the people expressed in enactments that no one can misinterpret. If laws are clearly unwise and contrary to common sense or nature, it is our duty as good citizens to work through public opinion to have them corrected or abolished. Laws can be changed. They must not be broken. Man, however, has never been granted the right to break God's law which says "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it Holy."

There are today, in the different cities, hundreds of thousands with busy hands and pens trying to cut out the heart of America's Sabbath and leave it a bleeding skeleton. The effort is organized and tremendous. It became most apparent soon after the declaration of war in this country. War is no respecter of the Sabbath. But in these times of peace, patriots everywhere should rise up, just as they did when the clarion call to arms came, and defend their constitution, their laws and preserve for their children the Sabbath of the Fathers.

The invasion of our Sunday is led by foreign foes who come here to secure our money, cause our constitution and destroy our flag. Their first blow is at our sacred Sabbath, at our traditions, at our institution and at our "ship of state," typified in our laws.

Let us rise up a united people and say to these foreigners that they cannot desecrate our Sabbath or destroy the high ideals handed down to us by those who sacrificed and suffered that America might take her place as the foremost of the nations of the earth.

Descendants of Goliath, of the Amos, of San Jacinto, how do you feel about giving up the Texas Sabbath?

To our foreign element let us say, Do not bring your Russian Sabbath here; do not bring your Spanish Sabbath here; do not bring your Italian Sabbath here; do not bring your French Sabbath here; do not bring your Turkish Sabbath here; do not bring your foreign Sabbath here. Then it shall again be for us and our children forever a pure, consecrated, law observing, Christian Sabbath.

My City and I

My city is where my home is founded, where my business is situated, where my vote is cast, where my children are educated, where my neighbors dwell and where my life is chiefly lived.

It is the home spot for me. My city has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me, and I must support it.

My city wants my citizenship, not partisanship, friendliness—not selfishness; co-operation—not disunion; sympathy—not criticism; my intelligent support—not indifference.

My city supplies me with law and order, trade, friends, education, recreation and the rights of a free-born American.

I should believe in my city and work for it.

AND I WILL. Yours, THE CITIZEN.

My Citizen and I

My citizen has added his home to my homes, and his business to my industries; he votes for my welfare, and is educating his children that they may serve me; he has made my neighborhood complete.

He is partial to my environs. He has a right to my loyalty.

He supports me, and I should show him honor.

My citizen wants protection—not patronage; friendly interest—not my official interference; co-operation—not investigation; sympathy—not criticism; helpfulness—not indifference.

My citizen obeys my laws, builds my trade, increases my industries, and embellishes my social life with the quality of a gentleman.

I should believe in my citizen and support him.

AND I WILL. Yours, THE CITY.

CENTRAL TEXAS PRESS

By N. P. HOUS

Strange that none of the pragraphers have yet suggested that Jack Walton was Trapped.

It seldom takes a train more than a half minute to pass a crossing and yet there are several people every day hurled into eternity who didn't have half a minute to spare.—Groesbeck Journal.

In forming a program of street betterment as a result of the city's improved financial condition, we wonder if the administration can not bring pressure to bear upon citizens owning property on paved streets and induce them to fill in the gaps where existing? These unimproved spots not only make the streets look ragged but they add greatly to traffic dangers which should be overcome.—Donison Herald.

We have several of those "gaps" here in Mexia, and they are not only eye sores but, as the Donison Herald says, dangerous. But they do a little good. They force joy speeders to slow down, thus help to prevent accidents to pedestrians.

An editor out in Eastland says he is going to dig up the information and tell the people where their tax money goes. Wonder if that man realizes the enormous work he has mapped out for himself? But if he succeeds he will have made his name famous.

A Mineral Wells man lost a fine watch late last winter and the other day when he put on the suit he was wearing when he lost it, he felt in the pockets and found—no, he didn't find the watch, like you guessed, but he did find a hole chainmail chain.

No wonder he lost his watch thru such a hole.

A New Club.

Sam Miller up at Mineral Wells is boasting about the organization of "An Early to Rise" club, and expatiates on the glories of getting up to greet the rising sun, and all that kind of stuff. Down here we can't contribute anything to the new club, but when it comes to the "Stay Up Late at Night" club we challenge the round world to beat us. A lot of our members on getting up on mornings frequently meet themselves going to bed.—Falmes Herald.

Get the nomenclature right, please. Our new club is officially known as the "Early Riser Club" and has the most select membership so far of any organization in the known world. And for reaching influence of its members it has no equal. So far the membership stands at four, namely, this editor who is official organizer, McDonald of the Denton, Record-Chronicle; Colonel Nick Houli of the Mexia News, and President Cal Cochran of Washington, D. C. The membership roster is still open, of course, and any one with a strong belief in the theory that the night was made to sleep in and that to see the sun rise in the morning will cure most of the ills to which humanity is heir, may become a member. The requirements are an affirmation to the above declaration of principles and a practice of rising not later than five o'clock every morning. Who's next?—Mineral Wells Index.

Come on, boys, and get in the latest and earliest club. Some of the old editors took the first degree in this club while at Corpus Christi, when they got up at 5 a. m. and went fishing and saw the sun rise out over the bay.

Presbyterians To Build Plants At State University

Announcement has been made by the executive committee in charge of the statewide Presbyterian movement for Christian education that $160,000 would be appropriated out of the campaign fund now being raised, for suitable plants and church work for the Presbyterians students attending the state institutions. This includes $100,000 for building at Austin near the state university. At A. & M. College $20,000 will be used for a plant and the remainder will be used at Denton, San Marcos, Huntsville and Commerce.

Strong endorsement of the campaign has been given by the heads of state institutions. Dr. W. S. Sutton, acting president of the university, wrote the committee that there "is a crying need for better and more educational institutions and I hope your efforts will be crowned with success."

Similar letters have been received from R. B. Binnion, president of the State Normal at Commerce; W. B. Bizzell, president of A. & M. College; R. L. Marquis, president North Texas State Normal, Denton; T. M. Bradley, president of Industrial Arts, Denton; C. E. Evans, president Southwest State Teachers' College, San Marcos.

LITTLE FOXES

HABIT

The power of habit is such that a person may not only become reconciled to discomforts but may even find pleasure in them. Sir George Staunton, one-time ambassador to China from Great Britain, told this singular story that might be easily paralleled in the experiences of more of modern travelers: "I once visited a man in India who had committed murder; and in order not only to save his life, but, what was more important, his caste, he submitted to the penalty imposed. This was that he should sleep for seven years on a bedstead without any mattress, the whole surface of which was studded with points of iron resembling nails, but not so sharp as to penetrate the flesh. I saw him in the fifth year of his probation and his skin then like the hide of a rhinoceros, but more callous. At that time, however, he could sleep comfortably on his 'bed of thorns' and remarked that at the expiration of the term of his sentence, he should most probably continue that system from choice which he had been obliged to adopt from necessity."

"THE WONDERFUL REAPER"

The wonderful Reaper whose name is Death,
Comes to us all some day,
Reaping the hoary hair at a breath.
"Shall I have none that is young," says he?
Have nothing but hoary hair?
Though the songs of these little ones may sweet to you be,
I cannot to you spare.
He looked at the babe with such wonderful charms,
He kissed the curly locks,
It was God's command and says he
That I bound him in my arms.
My God has need of this child today,
The Reaper said, and smiled.
Dear little child of the earth is he,
Where our Jesus was once a child.
Have no fears of the longsome lane,
You will travel alone for years,
For I will come again some day and give him back again.
He will shine in the heavens bright,
Placed so carefully by my care
And with his garments white,
The little one shall wear.
And the mother placed with tears and pain
In his arms the babe she loved,
She knew she would get him back again
In the heavens of light above.
Oh! not in anger, not in wrath,
Did the Reaper come that day,
'Twas God visiting that home on earth
That took the babe away.

—Mrs. A. H. Robertson, Mexia, Texas.

SHOCKER CASE MAY GO TO LANDIS.

By HENRY J. FARRELL

(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—No winter meeting of the major league club owners would be productive of the space in the newspapers the moguls cherish as their own without some reports of a big fight about something.

Reports this year have to do with an alleged fight the magnates are to carry against Commissioner Landis, who is said to have offended his employees by injecting too much Landis in the limelight.

Ban Johnson, according to reports that seem rather artificial, is to bring up the old question of Ban's:

"Who's bigger than I am?"

At the present time, Landis is bigger than Ban in the conduct of baseball affairs, and Landis will be bigger than Ban after any argument that Ban may start.

Johnson is said to be ready to fight if Landis should attempt to interfere in the squabble between Urban Shocker and the owners of the St. Louis Browns.

Claiming that he had been treated unfairly by the Brown owners, Shocker appealed to Landis to have himself declared a free agent and if Landis figures that he should occupy the bench and hear the argument, it is not likely that Johnson's threat will scare him away.

Shocker's case brings up a much broader issue than the one on the surface, one that is of interest to all ball players and one that Landis may feel concerns more than the individual case of Shocker vs. The Browns.

Shocker wanted to have his wife accompany him on the last eastern trip of the Browns last season and he agreed to bear the expense of her transportation and maintenance, but the club refused to allow her to accompany the pitcher.

Shocker refused to go, and was suspended and fined $500. He maintains that the club has no right to govern his private affairs and he wants the commissioner to make a ruling to cover the case.

Several ball clubs do not allow the wives of their players to accompany their husbands on the road.

Presiding Elder C. A. Bickley of the Corsicana Methodist District was here Sunday, preaching at the morning hour and meeting with the Board of Stewards in the afternoon at the church.

DALLAS, Nov. 20.—Dr. Thomas and his wife, Susie Thomas, negroes, were instantly killed and another seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by an MK&T passenger train near here Sunday afternoon. Three other negroes escaped injury by jumping from the automobile before it was struck.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Burchfield and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Burchfield, of Mart, passed through Mexia Monday enroute to Corsicana to attend the funeral of J. D. Jackson. While here they visited Mrs. C. L. Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Burchfield, who was recently operated on. Mrs. W. K. Turner accompanied them to Corsicana.

Carolina, that State refusing to recognize divorce.

If he gets a divorce, remarries and enters South Carolina he is a bigamist in the eyes of the law.

There are only two grounds for divorce in New York—infidelity and desertion. One may step across the border into Connecticut and have his choice of seven grounds for divorce.

A marriage is not legal in Maryland unless performed by a clergyman.

Nineteen States have no laws prohibiting the marriage of feeble-minded.

There is no minority age in seven-teen States.

South Carolina permits a girl of 12 years to marry.

Divorce cannot be obtained on any ground in one State, yet it is granted in another on evidence of bad temper.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—General von Seeckt, Germany's unofficial dictator, still will be the power behind the government if Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, latest to try a hand at the helm of the floundering ship of State, succeeds in forming a cabinet.

Von Seeckt's power is growing. I is understood President Ebert before inviting Dr. Albert to form a Ministry, consulted the General as to whether the former Minister of the Treasury in the Cuno Cabinet would be acceptable.

Dr. Albert, prior to the entry of the United States into the war, was German fiscal agent there.

DALLAS, Nov. 20.—Burglars broke in a Piggly Wiggly store here carried off the safe and looted it of approximately $1200 in cash, according to reports to the police Sunday.

The panels in a very narrow pleat give the dress a long, slender look, and very deep armholes and an arranged over a camisole foundation of self material. If preferred, however, this foundation may be of lace to correspond with the panels. The dress is simple, as are no many of the season's designs, but at one side is a shower bouquet of rhine ribbon in delicate shades of brown, bronze or gold.

The bouquet is composed of morning glories, which are very easy to make, as shown in the two figures. First, the ribbon is cut, then sewn together and gathered at the base, as in Fig. 1. Then a narrower ribbon is cut, about one-half longer than the ribbon used for the flower. If it is gathered and attached to the upper edge of the morning glory, as figured in Fig. 11.

Two shades of one color may be used on a single flower. If desired, the various flowers may be in the brilliant tones of autumn foliage. The ribbon forming the bow and single end usually is like that used for the darkest flower in the bouquet. This design can be made to give practicality by sewing the

Rock of Unusual Charm and Style

Fashion sponsors the lace-trimmed rock for autumn and winter and nothing could be more fascinating than this model in made silk, edged with lace and dyed in the same color.

"Simply fascinating" is the verdict of all who see this dress model and there is no divergence of opinion on the subject. It has a straight, tailored skirt overlaid with panels of lace. Stitched about the edges of

so that the reverse side of the garment will be distinguished by the neatness that is a feature of all hand-made lingerie. The French hem is simply a flat, uniform hem made on the right side of the garment. In this instance, the lace covers the hem. In sewing on the lace care should be taken to place the needle in every mesh of the trimming. Do not draw too tightly, otherwise the work will draw.

Other materials than satinette may be used for this combination, for instance, batiste, nainsook, crepe de chine, radium silk, and tub satin. It all depends upon the amount one is willing to spend for the purpose. Instead of the lace trimming, the upper edge of the camisole and the lower edge of the drawers may be finished with a plain hem-stitched hem. Machine-hem-stitching is so much in demand nowadays that nearly all machines have a hem-stitching attachment. Or, if not, it costs but a

Combination with Brassiere and Step-in Drawers

There is double satisfaction in the possession of a combination of this type, because it is not only a garment of beauty, but it is so designed that it helps to give the figure good lines. In satinette and lace, it is lovely.

In this model one has the fitted brassiere and step-in drawers combined with unusual cleverness. Three yards of satinette, 36 inches wide, will be needed to make it. Four lace medallions are attached to the top of the camisole with narrow bands of satin ribbon. The heading is used again at the waist to draw in the fullness. The lower edge of the drawers is finished with edging to correspond with the medallions. The brassiere opens in the back.

The lace is sewed to the edge of the drawers with the French hem, a few cents a yard to have the work done professionally.

Because of the fitted brassiere, however, it is advisable to select a material that will stand wear. Satinette has a sheer that is closely akin to the luster of more expensive materials. And it also comes in a delightful range of colors.

The veining used on the neck and about the waist of the combination may be of lace or batiste. There also come a number of macerated veining and headings that adds to the service of undergarments.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Their lives constantly threatened at first by lurking savages and wild beasts, the Pilgrim Fathers, by their sturdiness, their patience and reliance upon Divine Providence, overcame the obstacles set in their way. They made peace with the Indians. They gathered in an abundant harvest, and kept the earliest Thanksgiving in America at Plymouth in 1621.

Their was an earnest, fervent Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the benefits they had received at his hands; that their lives had been spared; that they had been given food and raiment.

At this season it is well for all of us, as we look forward to the holiday—to the steaming turkey and cranberries and other delectable foods, to be followed inevitably by a thrilling football game—it is well indeed for us to hark back to that earliest Thanksgiving.

Let us be devoutly thankful to the Great Ruler of the Universe that he has favored this nation above all others, that he has singularly blessed our State and City; that he has given us an abundance of good things.

TICKETS YET ON EVERY SEAT TO SALE FOR THE SMU-BAYLOR CLASSIC

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 26.—Nothing remains ahead of S. M. U. now but the Thanksgiving game with Baylor, the classic of the Southwest, where at least one phase of this year's Conference will be decided. Oddly enough in view of the two tie games played by the Bears with two of their biggest opponents, Frank Bridges' chance at the championship rests on the showing of his club with S. M. U.—and his victory over Arkansas, a team which S. M. U. has also defeated and on much the same terms except that the Mustangs met Schmidt's Raborbacks when they had been brought up to top stride in November while Baylor played them early.

S. M. U. on the other hand has been thoroughly tested in a Conference schedule in which every game has been played to a decision.

A possible handicap to the Baylor eleven was the cancellation of its game scheduled Saturday with the Texas Miners at El Paso, as this means that the Bears will have had well over two weeks of illness before the Thanksgiving Day game unless they succeed in arranging a game to fill in. S. M. U. on the other hand wound up its preliminary card with the Oklahoma Aggies Saturday and will have but a few days' period with-out a game, just enough to get on edge for the big game.

Indications point to another capacity crowd at the Stadium on Thanksgiving Day to rival the attendance of the Texas Vanderbilt game. The exceptional records of both teams so far this season supplies the drawing card.

In spite of the comparative score status—S. M. U. having defeated the Aggies—who were only tied by Baylor—Mustang supporters are looking at the Turkey Day engagement as an even affair. Balanced against the mutual A. & M. scores are those with Arkansas, where Baylor won, 14 to 0, and S. M. U. only 13 to 6, the Bears being the only team to score a touchdown against the Morrison-Frost defense this year, and the only Conference team to score at all. On the other hand the Longhorns are the only Conference team with a touchdown on Baylor.

Reservations for the Stadium on Turkey Day can be obtained at the Old Mill and Eureka Drug Stores in Dallas, and from E. W. Province in Waco.

The Seniors of the Mexia High School received an enormous box of candy from New York Tuesday. It was from one class sister, Miss Corinne Desenberg. Needless to say, each Senior enjoyed his share. Miss Desenberg is on a trip to the North and will not return until Christmas. The Seniors wish to thank her very much for the remembrance. This is just one of the treats the Seniors got this week and we hope that next week will hold just as many for us.

The magnificent article on "A World's Best" appearing in Sunday's issue of the Mexia Daily News was presented first to the Women's Missionary Society of The Methodist Church at their social session last Monday in the home of Mrs. Sam Cox.

TEXAS A. & M. GAME SOLD ALREADY

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 26.—The size of the crowd that will witness the thirty-first annual contest between the Aggies and the Longhorns for gridiron supremacy has been definitely fixed at 20,000. That has been done by the close of the ticket sale at College Station and Austin simultaneously by edicts from James Sullivan and L. Theo Belmont, football merchant princes supreme of the A. & M. College of Texas and the University of Texas respectively. The stand at College Station will seat that number. No one will be admitted to the field without a ticket and a cord of special police will guard the field carefully to see that none enter without admission. This will be done to protect those who have purchased seats and whose comfort would be seriously interfered with by the presence of interlovers.

This is the first time in the history of southwestern football that every seat for a game has been sold one week in advance of the date.

Of the thirty games played to date by the University and the College the University has won eighteen, A. & M. nine, and three have been ties. In the last ten years A. & M. has won five, lost four and tied one. The University has scored a total 290 points while A. & M. has scored only 143 in the thirty games already played.

The two teams will line up Thanksgiving with the University a decided favorite. This is the conclusion from statistics won by the two teams this season and from the experience of men on the team.

This was also the case before it was announced this week that "King" Gill would not be able to play with the Aggies in this game. He was injured in the Rice game and will not be able to play in this all-important contest. He has been directing the defense and offense in the backfield and is the best passer in the conference, a very necessary part of Aggie offense because of the lack of heavy backfield men.

Favorable conditions are placed on the Aggies by the traditional knowledge that they always play much above the maximum efficiency which they show in games previous to the Longhorn tussle, and the fact that the Longhorns have never scored a point in football on Kyle field.

Gates to Kyle field Thanksgiving day will open promptly at 12 o'clock. Persons holding red tickets will enter the north gate, main entrance. Persons holding orange colored tickets will enter the east gate, side entrance. Early and avoid a last minute confusion and rush. It is estimated that it will take two hours to pass 20,000 people into the field and seat them without trouble. There will be amusement in the rivalry between rooting stands and between the rival musical organizations of the two schools. Also A. & M. cadet corps and the University girls will present calisthenic and symbolic stunts on the field between 1 and 2 o'clock.

The game will start at 3 o'clock.

A. & M. TEAM TO HAVE PART IN BIG SHOW IN CHICAGO

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 26.—The A. & M. College of Texas will have a prominent participation in the International Exposition and Livestock Show at Chicago next month. A team of six animal husbandry seniors are on their way there to compete in the International Livestock judging contest held in connection with the show and an exhibit of Texas Agricultural products in combination with A. & M. College and Southern Pacific railroad publicity has been shipped. W. I. Stangel, professor of animal husbandry accompanied the team as coach and the exhibit will be in charge of George A. Long, director of College exhibits and J. F. McGregor agricultural agent of the Southern Pacific.

Although the Aggies go to Chicago contest badly handicapped without practice and experience which they competitors of the north have, due to the absence of many ideal classes of livestock in Texas and lack of preliminary competitive judging events, their standing as one of two teams in the world that has won the trophy of the contest twice indicates that their chance to win may be better than otherwise might be considered. Puidue is the other institution that has won the contest twice and along with A. & M. has opportunity of gaining permanent possession of the trophy winning this time.

All expenses of carrying the exhibit on Chicago will be paid by the Southern Pacific.

Football Sponsor Entertains Famous Black Cat Ball Squad

Miss Miriam Bass, the winsome, attractive sponsor for the local football squad, entertained in their honor Saturday evening, November 24th, with an elaborate banquet in the High School Cafeteria. Miss Miriam was giving a week-end house party in honor of Miss Ella Becker of Houston, Miss Mary Anne Smith of Dallas, and Miss Emily Davis of Corsicana. These guests, a few of the high school teachers, the football squad and their friends were the ones who enjoyed the "pleasure of being present."

The cafeteria was most attractively decorated with the illustrious colors which wave over the field of victory in many a hard fought battle of the football season, crimson and black. The tables which were arranged in the form of a "T," were artistically adorned with unique decoration of crimson and black. Immediately in front of the hostess two huge plaster black cats sat in state with the conquering football with which the boys won victory in the hard fought Fennis game resting sedately between them. At the other end of the table was a miniature football field with tiny black cats arranged as players on the field and a tiny football in readiness to be kicked off. The place cards were cunning football cherubs with a football under their arms and a helmet on their heads. The nuts were contained in artistic baskets of crimson with a small black cat standing by their sides. The Thanksgiving napkins and program folders added just the proper finishing touch to the perfect setting for a dinner of this type. The folders, which were crimson, were adorned with a cover design upon which was found in black letters at the top "A Pilgrim Thanksgiving." Just below was a pen sketch of the arriving colonists. In the center was the famous black cat below which was written: "November 24, 1923, Mexia High School, Mexia, Texas." Upon opening the folders the guests found the novel football menu and the program for the toasts.

As a most welcome surprise to the guests, the hostess in her charming and individual manner introduced the speaker of the evening, little Master Sammy McPhadden, who entertained with a few very original selections which were received with ovations of applause. Charley Wafford led in a few rousing yells; Elise Gibson led the school song; and a number of the guests responded to calls for impromptu speeches. In fact, on the whole, a very delightful evening was spent, and the entertainment proved in every detail a striking success.

SCREEN "COME-BACKS" ARE DIFFICULT
Making a second ascent of the ladder of film success seems to be a far more difficult task than the initial effort. Faithless theatre audiences exhibit little readiness to return to old favorites.

Which makes the accomplishment of Priscilla Bonner, who has an important place in the big cast for "April Showers," at the National Theatre, with such luminaries as Colleen Moore, Kenneth Harlan and a long list of lesser notables, a remarkable one indeed.
Illness Followed
Slightly more than fifteen months ago Miss Bonner, who had been featured in several special productions, was called from the screen by marriage and prevented from returning to her first love by illness. When she finally answered the call of the camera again she found that new players, new directors and changed methods of casting, had altered the entire outlook.
In "Shadows"
Just when the former leading lady was prepared to take the first opening as an extra, she was given a small role in "Shadows." In this small glimpse of the blonde player, however, reviewers and theatre-goers recognized the qualities that once had made Miss Bonner a favorite. Because of her enthusiastic reception she was given other roles, increasing in importance until, when the "all-Irish-all-star" cast for "April Showers" was being formed, it was agreed to include her among the brilliant list of principals.

Makes You Feel Cheap

... knows better than the boy or girl who has been slighted time and again by their supposed "best friend," how humiliating it is to have to stand for such "cutting" things when they know they can expect nothing more as long as they don't look attractive on account of a pimply, blotchy or rough skin.
But such heartaches don't have to be put up with. Any boy or girl who is troubled with these skin blemishes can get rid of them if they will just use Black and White Ointment. The fact that Black and White Ointment sells at the tremendous rate of nearly two million packages a year shows how popular it is. It is economically priced in liberal packages. Any dealer can supply you with it. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size.—(Adv.)

CHICAGO CHOSEN HEADQUARTERS FOR LIONS CLUBS

Permanent headquarters of the International Association of Lions Clubs has been secured in Chicago, by the Board of Directors. This step was taken only after the most mature deliberation in which the entire Board of Directors took part. Many of them made the journey to Chicago to cast their votes. Headquarters has always been at Chicago, and it has now been decided to remain there. By vote of the directors Secretary-General Melvin Jones has been instructed to take quarters under a long-term lease.

This section of the country was represented in the deliberations by International Vice President W. G. Higgins and International Director Julian C. Hyer.
While all parts of the United States and Canada took part in considering the question, the consensus was that Headquarters should be maintained in a place centrally located and easily accessible from all parts of the continent. Such a place, all conceded, was Chicago. The Board of Directors therefore instructed the secretary-general to sign a six year lease for the rooms now occupied, something more than 3,000 square feet of floor space in the McCormick Building in Chicago; and to secure an option on the same space for a longer period if it shall be desired.

Secretary-General Jones has been with the organization since it was formed in 1917, and is under contract to serve until 1927. He has had his part in building up the Lions International from the few hundred men with which it started to its present size of 750 clubs with more than 40,000 members distributed over 47 states of the Union and four provinces of Canada.

These 750 clubs in the last year have engaged in more than 300 major activities all for the upbuilding of their communities, the teaching of service and patriotism, and the promotion of good fellowship. They have built schools and asylums, cared for the poor, helped boys and girls form clubs and live in the open, endowed hospitals, worked for good roads and done a thousand kindly acts. One Lions Club has established for the blind children of the state a magazine in which children's stories are printed in Braille, the raised letters which the blind can read.
This city offers an example of the splendid type of men who form Lions Clubs everywhere and the noble work they do. (Suggest names and pictures of officers and leading members.) They are chosen from the best professional and business men in each community, and the Lions always cooperate with chambers of commerce and other civic organizations. The Lions International also publishes a monthly magazine which reaches its entire membership of 40,000.

Chicago is now the permanent headquarters of the international organizations of the most prominent three civic clubs in the United States.

U. S. Pine To Rebuild Japan

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
TOKYO (By Mail to United Press.)
Pine from the Pacific Coast of America is, in large measures, rebuilding the devastated areas of Tokyo and Yokohama.

Large stocks of timber from the United States were in Japan before the earthquake, because in normal times timber from America is extensively used here. Many big shipments have landed since the disaster and still more will be sent.

Only temporary wooden shacks can be built now. It will be months before permits for permanent structures will be issued. The so-called "temporary" shacks will, as a matter of fact be permanent in many cases and in others will last for several years.
Half a million houses must be built in Tokyo to replace the destruction of fire and earthquake. The first angle of this great reconstruction is the big market for American lumber that this has created and, apparently, will continue for some time.

The next, from an American trade standpoint, seems to be the big field that ought to remain a long while for a great variety of American materials and products—heatings, lighting and various kinds of household equipment.

structural materials of all kinds, automobiles, telephones and railroad equipment.

Construction, electrical, steel and machinery men expect their lines to do the biggest immediate business in selling to Japan. But it is also believed that an increased market for a wide range of American manufactured stuff will be found in Japan—clothing, toilet articles and so on—and preparations are being made for extensive advertising campaigns to introduce their products in this country, or to increase the popularity of they sold here before.

Salts Fine For Aching Kidneys

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—(Adv.)

Large numbers are daily visiting the Demonstration Home being built under the direction of The News and financed by J. K. Hughes, which structure is going up on East Main street just off Ross Avenue. Quite a number of other new homes are going up in that district. Mexia is substantially improving.

The public generally is looking forward eagerly to the formal opening of the new high school to the public, at which time visitors will be welcomed and conducted through every department of this most complete institution.

W. K. Boyd, in a conversation recently with Jesse McLendon, V. B. Gardner and John Phillips, learned that it was thought that they would pay another dividend soon for the Powell 500 Company.

ADVENTISTS ASK MEMBER FOR A HALF MILLION DOLLARS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (United Press.)—Seventh-Day Adventists throughout the country next week will make a sacrifice for the cause of Gospel mission work. Leaders of the denomination have set the week apart and expect the 4,000 churches in this country to contribute $500,000 in this one offering.

Clergymen and other workers in Adventist churches throughout the world will unite in appeals for mission funds during the week. Domestic budgets are to be pared, so that a part of the money ordinarily spent here will become available for foreign missions.

The in-gathering of the offering will occur on Dec. 1 in all the churches at which time special services will be held.

Food For The Girl, If You Lover Her Means a Lot

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (United Press).—
over before dinner, enemies after.
This is what will happen if you don't order food at hotels, boys and girls.
Gaston says so.
"Ah, the messes they choose! No number there are too many blighted romances! Creamy stuff like Chicken a la King! Worse yet, they eat sandwiches by thousands!
"To eat associate love and sandwiches!" demands Gaston, whose last name is Tibbery. He is chef at a leading hotel here.
A love menu should be light, Gaston says is an ideal for the after-lunch dinner a grapefruit supreme, lobster a la Americaine and some celery and olives. Nothing more.
Otto Welti, another prominent chef, gives first aid to the lovers like this:
"The repast correctly ordered is love's greatest asset. If the man is a bit dull, black coffee will increase his attentiveness. There is the danger that coffee will make him restless. If this is the case he should dance. Some sort of bird generally makes a good love food. Light, flaky pastries often bring happy results."
Over-eating takes the sparkle out of conversation, Otto declared.
"But that greatest aid to love—it is gone. It was champagne."

Her Only Chance To Fight and She Took Advantage

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 24.—The strong arm of the law decided that safety lay in retreat when he clashed with a bery of enraged girls during Armistice Day parade.
The cop, somewhat irritated by the unruly crowd, became furious when the girls playfully tipped his hat over his eyes and gave one of them a vigorous shove.
In an instant several of them were all over him. After several minutes of kicking, scratching and hairpulling he sought safety in the crowd, minus several handfuls of hair.

HOME DRESSMAKING

A Model for the Smart Stripes

In the Best Mode of Paris

A stunning gown takes to buttons and a collar of plain silk to complete its smartness. It may be carried out in flannel, wool crepe or homespun.

Deep vest effects are outstanding features of many of the season's best frocks, especially those designed for general wear. This model in French flannel is in shades of tan, and is being worn into the hairline that is so cleverly manipulated in the design of the vest, belt and sleeve trimming. For bust size 36 or 38, the dress calls for 3 1/2 yards of material 42 inches wide and 5/8 yard of heavy silk for the chemise and collar.

The property set in the vest, the right edge should be finished with a small hem. Then the right side of the neck is turned under the vest attached to it so that there will not be any raw edges. The left side is finished in the same way, but instead of being sewed together, an opening is left for the adjustment of the front, hooks and eyes, or snap-hooks being added.

The belt is very narrow and is formed by cutting the material crosswise. The narrow bands that finish the lower edges of the long flowing sleeves are cut on the same grain of the cloth as the belt. The buttons may be of self-material or they may be of fanciful design. A model of this type is generally becoming because stripes may be worn successfully by both stout and slender women.

The dress is one that will last through two or three seasons, therefore one is allowed a wide choice of materials in developing it.

plidity and smartness and introduces a new arrangement of the cape that merges into the drape of the panels at the side. The cape is lined with satin of contrasting color, and the ruffled cuffs of the sleeves are treated in the same way. To make this design the home dressmaker will need four and three-quarter yards of black and three-quarter yards of cherry color satin.

This Paris model steps out with a little more than the usual charm, and features a cape lined with cherry color satin which overshadows the somber black of the dress itself. The grade is of black and cherry ribbon, while the embroidery features these tones also.

Approved and accepted by Paris, in the verdict on this frock of black satin. It has the long slender lines that are expressive of youth, size

SLAYER OF RASPUTIN COMING TO THE UNITED STATES.

Prince Felix Youssoupeff and his wife, of the Russian nobility, are soon to arrive in New York as the guests of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr. His wife was Princess Irene, daughter of Grand Duke Alexander, cousin of the late Czar Nicholas. Prince Felix was the leader of the Land of young nobles who decided to do away with the treacherous monk, Rasputin, who held the Czar and the Czarina under his mystic spell. The monk was invited to the Youssoupeff Palace, in Petrograd, where poison was mixed with his wine. The poison failed to work, and Prince Felix fired six bullets into his body, which was then thrown through a hole in the ice on the River Neva. For his share in the killing the Prince was banished from court and interned in his country estate until the overthrow of the Czar.

VALUABLE RINGS TAKEN FROM FINGER OF WOMAN

PORT WORTH, Nov. 26.—Rings valued at $200 were wrested from the fingers of Mrs. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor by two holdup men in the Eastern hotel here early Sunday. The robbers threatened to kill Mrs. Taylor when she demonstrated with them.

After taking the rings, the two were persuaded to leave without stealing anything else. Telephone wires into the house had been cut by the robbers before they entered.

THREE UNMASKED BANDITS HOLD UP DIAMOND SALESMAN

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Three unmasked bandits early today held up William Hoffman, diamond salesman for a Chicago jewelry company, as he was entering his apartment here. The robbers took from him $20,000 in jewelry and cash.

Electrician's Death a Mystery To Chicago Police

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Twenty-four hours after the body of Freeman Tracy, former University of Chicago student, was found floating in the South Side river, police today were unable to assign a motive for the murder.

Tracy's bullet-riddled body, apparently tossed from an automobile, was found near the university by students returning from a dance early yesterday morning.

William Ambrose, said to have quarreled with the dead man, the only person thus far questioned, produced an alibi that satisfied police.

The robbery motive was eliminated when money and valuables on the dead man were found undisturbed.

HUGHES DEVELOPING COMPANY GETS WELL

The J. K. Hughes Developing Company brought in the Alexander 29 acre tract in the Powell field Sunday night when the No. 1, drilled by this company, came in for production. Communications from the field this afternoon indicate that it is increasing its flow and it is practically certain that the discovery prove up the entire acreage on the Alexander held by this company.

FOURTEEN YEARS FOR DR. F. A. COOK.

Dr. F. A. Cook, the Brooklyn (N. Y.) doctor, whose claim that he discovered the North Pole was so thoroughly disproved by Admiral Peary, the real discoverer, has been sentenced to serve 14 years in a Federal prison and to pay a fine of $12,000 for fraudulent dealings in oil stock in Port Worth, Texas. The trial judge flayed him in delivering the sentence. S. E. J. Cox, another promoter, whose hobby was air-riding and who built a machine to compete in the James Gordon Bennett Cup races in France a few years ago, was sentenced to 8 years and to pay a fine of $8,000. Cox's wife startled the country a few years ago by calling an "airplane taxi" in Texas to take her to New York on a shopping tour.

Officers Believe Blow Struck At Traffic In Wholesale Rum Running

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The rum runner Tomoka, captured by coast guards cutters off Seabright, N. J., was seized on direct orders from the Department of Justice, officials of the coast guard said. Instructions for prosecuting the case were telephoned to the United States attorney at New York this morning.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Federal agents today believed they had struck a vital blow at the West Indian rum running traffic. Nine men were to be brought before Assistant Solicitor of the port of New York, Edward H. Barnes, during the day for questioning before being arraigned in New Jersey before a United States commissioner on a charge of transporting liquor to the United States.

Themen include William S. McCoy, said by Federal agents to be the "king" of West Indian rum runners. McCoy and his companions were captured early yesterday outside the three-mile limit when boats of the coast guard and revenue cutter service overhauled the British two-masted schooner Tomoka and seized 200 cases of whiskey which they said was the remainder of 4,200 cases the ship had brought from Nassau, Bahamas Islands.

Government boats were cruising off Seabright, N. J., on a tip that the Tomoka was laying in that vicinity when they picked up the rum runner well outside the three mile limit. A signal to haul brought to response and immediately the Government cutters cut loose with three-pound shots across the whiskey ship's bow.

20 KILLED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Eight men are dead from drinking poison liquor, and one hundred are in hospitals suffering from acute alcoholism, and more than five hundred are under arrest for drunkenness in a record-breaking week-end liquor drinking orgy. The alcoholic debauch is believed due to the sudden drop in temperature and the approach of the holiday season. Four men were picked up unconscious on the streets and died enroute to hospitals. Oxygen was administered to revive the victims. Hospitals had the busiest week end since the enactment of prohibition.

Holton Test Is Drilling Rapidly

Rapid progress is announced in the drilling of the Humphreys Oil Company's No. 1 Holton three miles west of Groesbeck. It is now down approximately 2,000 feet. A rotary is being used. Considerable optimism is felt for this test, however, it is understood that the original purpose of its being drilled was to secure the gas for operations of the company through out the field. Nevertheless, drilling will be pursued with great care and attention to all formations. The location is about 600 feet east of a north and south line drawn from the Brown which blew in an enormous gusher and the Welch No. 2, which was, until lost, termed a small producer.

Suitable for Afternoon or Evening

Prock of Unusual Charm and Style

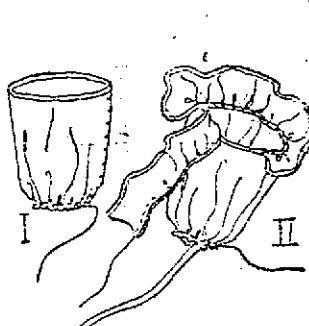

Fashion sponsors the lace-trimmed frock for matron and miss and nothing could be more fascinating than this model in made silk crepe trimmed with lace dyed in the same color.

"Simply fascinating" is the verdict of all who see this Paris model and there is no divergence of opinion on the subject. It has a straight path skirt overdressed with panels of lace. Stitched about the edges of the panels is a very narrow pleat full braid. The long-waisted bodice has very deep armholes and is arranged over a camisole foundation of self-material. If preferred, however, this foundation may be of lace to correspond with the panels. The frock is beltless, as are so many of the season's designs, but at one side is a shower bouquet of rhine ribbon in delicious shades of brown, bronze or gold.

The bouquet (composed of morning glories, which are very easy to make, as shown in the two figures First, the ribbon is cut, then each together and gathered at the base, as in Fig. 1. Then a narrower ribbon is cut, about one-half longer than the ribbon used for the flower. It is gathered and attached to the upper edge of the morning glory, as pictured in Fig. 2.

Two shades of one color may be used on a single flower, if desired, or the various flowers may be in the brilliant tones of autumn foliage. The ribbon forming the bow and single end usually is like that used for the darkest flower in the bouquet. This design can be made to give practical sewing the underarm seams together as far as the armholes and adding a simple sleeve, either elbow length, or long and flaring.

Smart-Looking and Very Wearable

Neatness and Comfort in Every Note

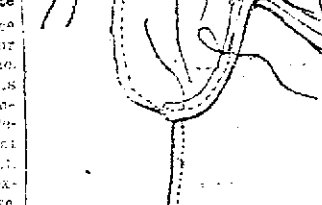

Blouses will never lose their place in smart favor as long as the tailor and the dressmaker are in vogue. This model in old-time style is trimmed with a wide ribbon and considered in a new way of heretofore design so outlined with the ribbon that it resembles a decoration of pearls.

Smart simplicity has eloquent expression in this charming blouse found among the newest designs for Autumn and Winter wear. To make it one must have two and three quarter yards of material, 36 or 40 inches wide. The lower edge of the blouse is caught in a simple hem, bound with the ribbon, the bottom line of the hem, the ribbon and caught with a row of beads. Above and below the hem are what make the model unique for this time.

In the diagram, the home dressmaker is given a clear illustration of how the sleeves should be finished.

ished. To properly set it into the armhole, match the notches and pin with seam on the wrong side of the blouse. Hold the sleeve toward you and baste, holding curved edge without allowing a pleat to form at any place. Stitch on the seam line. After the sleeve has been sewed into the armhole, trim down the edge of the seam. Take the seam binding and fold it in half. If desired, the binding may be pressed through the center. It can be purchased already pressed. Place the fold in the binding over the edge of the seam, then baste the binding around the armhole. The binding by machine, stitched by hand or by machine. The neck is collarless so that a little bit of lace or linen may be added, if desired.

The embroidery on the front of the blouse is quite the newest idea from Paris and shows a delightful way of giving variety to the monogram and Neck finished with Seam Binding

Oriental motifs which have been used so successfully in this connection. This model may be developed in many other materials, if desired, some broad or other figured materials are used. The finished blouse, hung for the edges of the blouse, the hem and the sleeves would be a look of plain material instead of ribbon.

Designed to Give Good Lines

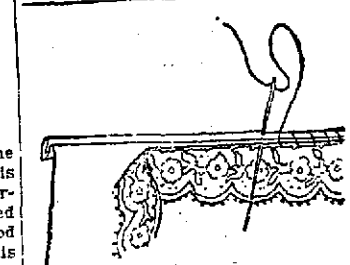

Combination with Brassiere and Step-in Drawers

There is double satisfaction in the possession of a combination of this type, because it is not only a garment of beauty, but it is so designed that it helps to give the figure good lines. In satinette and lace, it is lovely.

In this model one has the fitted brassiere and step-in drawers combined with unusual cleverness. Three yards of satinette, 36 inches wide, will be needed to make it. Four lace medallions are stitched to the top of the camisole with beading and joined over the shoulders with narrow bands of satin ribbon. The beading is used again at the waist to draw in the fullness. The lower edge of the drawers is finished with edging to correspond with the medallions. The brassiere opens in the back. The lace is sewed to the edge of the drawers with the French hem.

so that the reverse side of the garment will be distinguished by the neatness that is a feature of all hand-made lingerie. The French hem is simply a flat, uniform hem made on the right side of the garment. In this instance, the lace covers the hem. In sewing on the lace care should be taken to place the needle in every mesh of the trimming. Do not draw too tightly, otherwise the work will draw.

Other materials than satinette may be used for this combination, for instance, baliste, nainsook, crepe de chine, radium silk, and tub satin. It all depends upon the amount one is willing to spend for the purpose. Instead of the lace trimming, the upper edge of the camisole and the lower edge of the drawers may be finished with a plain hem-stitched hem. Machine-hem-stitching is so nearly all demands nowadays that nearly all machines have a hem-stitching attachment. Or, if not, it costs but a few cents a yard to have the work done professionally. Because of the fitted brassiere, however, it is advisable to select a material that will stand wear. Satinette has a sheer that is closely akin to the luster of more expensive materials. And it also comes in a delightful range of colors. The veining used on the neck and about the waist of the combination may be of lace or baliste. There also come a number of morocized veining and beading that adds to the service of undergarments.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Their lives constantly threatened at first by lurking savages and wild beasts, the Pilgrim Fathers, by their sturdiness, their patience and reliance upon Divine Providence, overcame the obstacles set in their way. They made peace with the Indians. They gathered in an abundant harvest, and kept the earliest Thanksgiving in America at Plymouth in 1621.

Theirs was an earnest, fervent Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the benefits they had received at his hands; that their lives had been spared; that they had been given food and raiment.

At this season it is well for all of us, as we look forward to the holiday—to the steaming turkey and cranberries and other delectable foods, to be followed inevitably by a thrilling football game—it is well indeed for us to hark back to that earliest Thanksgiving.

Let us be devoutly thankful to the Great Ruler of the Universe that he has favored this nation above all others, that he has singularly blessed our State and City: that he has given us an abundance of good things.

TICKETS YET ON EVERY SEAT TO

SALE FOR THE

SMU-BAYLOR

CLASSIC

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 26.—Nothing remains ahead of S. M. U. now but the Thanksgiving game with Baylor, the classic of the Southwest, where at least one phase of this year's Conference title will be decided. Oddly enough in view of the two tie games played by the Bears with two of their highest opponents, Frank Bridges' chance at the championship rests on the showing of his club with S. M. U.—and his victory over Arkansas, a team which S. M. U. has also defeated and on much the same terms except that the Mustangs met Schmidt's Razorbacks when they had been brought up to top stride in November while Baylor played them early.

S. M. U. on the other hand has been thoroughly tested in a Conference schedule in which every game has been played to a decision.

A possible handicap to the Baylor eleven was the cancellation of its game scheduled Saturday with the Texas Miners at El Paso, as this means that the Bears will have had well over two weeks of idleness before the Thanksgiving Day game unless they succeed in arranging a game to fill in. S. M. U. on the other hand wound up its preliminary card with the Oklahoma Aggies Saturday and will have but a ten days' period without a game—just enough to get on edge for the big game.

Indications point to another capacity crowd at the Stadium on Thanksgiving Day to rival the attendance of the Texas Vanderbilt game. The exceptional records of both teams so far this season supplies the drawing card.

In spite of the comparative score status—S. M. U. having defeated the Aggies who were only tied by Baylor—Mustang supporters are looking at the Turkey Day engagement as an even affair. Balanced against the mutual A. & M. scores are those with Arkansas, where Baylor won 14 to 0, and S. M. U. only 13 to 6, the Razorbacks being the only team to score a touchdown against the Morrison-Freeland defense this year, and the only Conference team to score at all. On the other hand the Longhorns are the only Conference team with a touchdown on Baylor.

Reservations for the Stadium on Turkey Day can be obtained at the Old Mill and Tucker Drug Stores in Dallas, and from E. W. Province in Waco.

The Seniors of the Mexia High School received an enormous box of candy from New York Tuesday. It was from our class sister, Miss Corinne Desenberg. Needless to say, each Senior enjoyed his share. Miss Desenberg is on a trip to the North and will not return until Christmas. The Seniors wish to thank her very much for the remembrance. This is just one of the treats the Seniors got this week and we hope that next week will hold just as many for us.

The magnificent article on "A Warless World" appearing in Sunday's issue of the Mexia Daily News was presented first to the Women's Missionary Society of The Methodist Church at their social session last Monday in the home of Mrs. Sam Cox.

TEXAS A. & M.

GAME SOLD

ALREADY

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 26.—The size of the crowd that will witness the thirty-first annual contest between the Aggies and the Longhorns for gridiron supremacy has been definitely fixed at 20,000. That has been done by the close of the ticket sale at College Station and Austin simultaneously by edicts from James Sullivan and L. Theo Belmont, football merchant princes supreme of the A. & M. College of Texas and the University of Texas respectively. The stand at College Station will seat that number. No one will be admitted to the field without a ticket and a cord of special police will guard the field carefully to see that none enter without admission. This will be done to protect those who have purchased seats and whose comfort would be seriously interfered with by the presence of standers.

This is the first time in the history of southwestern football that every seat for a game has been sold one week in advance of the date.

Of the thirty games played to date by the University and the College the University has won eighteen, A. & M. nine, and three have been ties. In the last ten years A. & M. has won five, lost four and tied one. The University has scored a total 230 points while A. & M. has scored only 113 in the thirty games already played.

The two teams will line up Thanksgiving with the University a decided favorite. This is the conclusion from contests won by the two teams this season and from the experience of men on the team.

This was also the case before it was announced this week that "King" Gill would not be able to play with the Aggies in this game. He was injured in the Rice game and will not be able to play in this all-important contest. He has been directing the defense and offense in the backfield and is the best passer in the conference, a very necessary part of Aggie offense because of the lack of heavy backfield men.

Favor can only be placed on the Aggies by the traditional knowledge that they always play much above the maximum efficiency which they show in games previous to the Longhorn tussle, and the fact that the Longhorns have never scored a point in football on Kyle field.

Gates to Kyle field Thanksgiving day will open promptly at 12 o'clock. Persons holding red tickets will enter the north gate, main entrance. Persons holding orange colored tickets will enter the east gate, side entrance. Persons are urged to enter the field early and avoid a last minute confusion and rush. It is estimated that it will take two hours to pass 20,000 people into the field and seat them without trouble. There will be amusement in the rivalry between rooting stands and between the rival musical organizations of the two schools. Also A. & M. cadet corps and the University girls will present calisthenic and symbolic stunts on the field between 1 and 2 o'clock.

The game will start at 3 o'clock.

A. & M. TEAM TO

HAVE PART IN

BIG SHOW IN

CHICAGO

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 26.—The A. & M. College of Texas will have a prominent participation in the International Exposition and Livestock Show at Chicago next month. A team of six animal husbandry seniors are on their way there to compete in the International Livestock judging contest held in connection with the show and an exhibit of Texas Agricultural products in combination with A. & M. College and Southern Pacific railroad publicity has been shipped. W. I. Stangel, professor of animal husbandry accompanied the team as coach and the exhibit will be in charge of George A. Long, director of College exhibits and J. I. McGregor, agricultural agent of the Southern Pacific.

Although the Aggies go to Chicago contest badly handicapped without practice and experience which their competitors of the north have, due to the absence of many ideal classes of livestock in Texas and lack of preliminary competitive judging events, their standing as one of two teams in the world that has won the trophy of the contest twice indicates that their chance to win may be better than otherwise might be considered. Purdue is the other institution that has won the contest twice and along with A. & M. has opportunity of gaining permanent possession of the trophy winning this time.

All expenses of carrying the exhibit on Chicago will be paid by the Southern Pacific.

Football Sponsor Entertains Famous Black Cat Ball Squad

Miss Miriam Bass, the winsome, attractive sponsor for the local football squad, entertained in their honor Saturday evening, November 24th, with an elaborate banquet in the High School Cafeteria. Miss Miriam was giving a week-end house party in honor of Miss Ella Becker of Houston, Miss Mary Anne Smith of Dallas, and Miss Emily Davis of Corsicana. These guests, a few of the high school teachers, the football squad and their friends were the ones who enjoyed the singular pleasure of being present.

The cafeteria was most attractively decorated with the illustrious colors which wave over the field of victory in many a hard fought battle of the football season, crimson and black. The tables which were arranged in the form of a T, were artistically adorned with unique decoration for crimson and black. Immediately in front of the hostess two huge plaster black cats sat in state with the conquering football with which the boys won victory in the hard fought Bennis game resting sedately between them. At the other end of the table was a miniature football field with tiny black cats arranged as players on the field and a tiny football in readiness to be kicked off. The place cards were cunning football cherubs with a football under their arms and a helmet on their heads. The nuts were contained in artistic baskets of crimson with a small black cat standing by their sides. The Thanksgiving napkins and program folders added just the proper finishing touch to the perfect setting for a dinner of this type. The folders, which were crimson, were adorned with a cover design upon which was found in black letters at the top "A Pilgrim Thanksgiving." Just below was a pen sketch of the arriving colonists. In the center was the famous black cat below which was written: "November 24, 1923, Mexia High School, Mexia, Texas." Upon opening the folders the guests found the novel football menu and the program for the toasts.

SCREEN "COME-BACKS" ARE DIFFICULT

Making a second ascent of the ladder of film success seems to be a far more difficult task than the initial effort. Faithless theatre audiences exhibit little readiness to return to old favorites.

Which makes the accomplishment of Priscilla Bonner, who has an important place in the big cast for "April Showers," at the National Theatre, with such luminaries as Colleen Moore, Kenneth Harlan and a long list of lesser notables, a remarkable one indeed.

Illness Followed Slightly more than fifteen months ago Miss Bonner, who had been featured in several special productions, was called from the screen by marriage and prevented from returning to her first love by illness. When she finally answered the call of the camera again she found that new players, new directors and changed methods of casting, had altered the entire outlook.

In "Shadows" Just when the former leading lady was prepared to take the first opening as an extra, she was given a small role in "Shadows." In this small glimpse of the blonde player, however, reviewers and theatre-goers recognized the qualities that once had made Miss Bonner a favorite. Because of her enthusiastic reception she was given other roles, increasing in importance until, when the "all-Irish-all-star" cast for "April Showers" was being formed, it was agreed to include her among the brilliant list of principals.

Makes You Feel Cheap knows better than the boy or girl who has been slighted time and again by their supposed "best friend," how humiliating it is to have to stand for such "cutting" things when they know they can expect nothing more as long as they don't look attractive on account of a pimply, blotchy or rough skin.

But such heartaches don't have to be put up with. Any boy or girl who is troubled with these skin blemishes can get rid of them if they will just use Black and White Ointment. The fact that Black and White Ointment sells at the tremendous rate of nearly two million packages a year shows how popular it is. It is economically priced in liberal packages. Any dealer can supply you with it. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. (Adv.)

CHICAGO CHOSEN HEADQUARTERS FOR LIONS CLUBS

Permanent headquarters of the International Association of Lions Clubs has been secured in Chicago, by the Board of Directors. This step was taken only after the most mature deliberation in which the entire Board of Directors took part. Many of them made the journey to Chicago to cast their votes. Headquarters has always been at Chicago, and it has now been decided to remain there. By vote of the directors Secretary-General Melvin Jones has been instructed to take quarters under a long-term lease.

This section of the country was represented in the deliberations by International Vice President W. G. Higgins and International Director Julien C. Hyer.

While all parts of the United States and Canada took part in considering the question, the consensus was that Headquarters should be maintained in a place centrally located and easily accessible from all parts of the continent. Such a place, all conceded, was Chicago. The Board of Directors therefore instructed the secretary-general to sign a six year lease for the rooms now occupied, something more than 3,000 square feet of floor space in the McCormick Building in Chicago; and to secure an option on the same space for a longer period if it shall be desired.

Secretary-General Jones has been with the organization since it was formed in 1917, and is under contract to serve until 1927. He has had his part in building up the Lions International from the few hundred men with which it started to its present size of 750 clubs with more than 40,000 members distributed over 47 states of the Union and four provinces of Canada.

These 750 clubs in the last year have engaged in more than 300 major activities all for the upbuilding of their communities, the teaching of service and patriotism, and the promotion of goodfellowship. They have built schools and asylums, cared for the poor, helped boys and girls form clubs and live in the open, endowed hospitals, worked for good roads and done a thousand kindly acts. One Lions Club has established for the blind children of the state a magazine in which children's stories are printed in Braille, the raised letters which the blind can read.

This city offers an example of the splendid type of men who form Lions Clubs everywhere and the noble work they do. (Suggest names and pictures of officers and leading members.) They are chosen from the best professional and business men in each community, and the Lions always cooperate with chambers of commerce and other civic organizations. The Lions International also publishes a monthly magazine which reaches its entire membership of 40,000.

Chicago is now the permanent headquarters of the international organizations of the most prominent three civic clubs in the United States.

U. S. Pine To Rebuild Japan

By CLARENCE DUBOSE (United Press Staff Correspondent) TOKYO (By Mail to United Press.) Pine from the Pacific Coast of America is, in large measures, rebuilding the devastated areas of Tokyo and Yokohama.

Large stocks of timber from the United States were in Japan before the earthquake, because in normal times timber from America is extensively used here. Many big shipments have landed since the disaster and still more will be sent.

Only temporary wooden shacks can be built now. It will be months before permits for permanent structures will be issued. The so-called "temporary" shacks will, as a matter of fact be permanent in many cases and in others will last for several years.

Half a million houses must be built in Tokyo to replace the destruction of fire and earthquake. The first angle of this great reconstruction is the big market for American lumber that this has created and, apparently, will continue for some time.

The next, from an American trade standpoint, seems to be the big field that ought to remain a long while for a great variety of American materials and products—heating, lighting and various kinds of household equipment, structural materials of all kinds, automobiles, telephones and railroad equipment.

Construction, electrical, steel and machinery men expect their lines to do the biggest immediate business in selling to Japan. But it is also believed that an increased market for a wide range of American manufactured stuff will be found in Japan—clothing, toilet articles and so on—and preparations are being made for extensive advertising campaigns in Japan by American firms anxious to introduce their products in this country, or to increase the popularity of they sold here before.

Salts Fine For Aching Kidneys

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. (Adv.)

Large numbers are daily visiting the Demonstration Home being built under the direction of The News and financed by J. K. Hughes, which structure is going up on East Main street just off Ross Avenue. Quite a number of other new homes are going up in that district. Mexia is substantially improving.

The public generally is looking forward eagerly to the formal opening of the new high school to the public, at which time visitors will be welcomed and conducted through every department of this most complete institution.

W. K. Boyd, in a conversation recently with Jesse McLendon, V. B. Gardner and John Phillips, learned that it was thought that they would pay another dividend soon for the Powell 500 Company.

ADVENTISTS ASK MEMBER FOR A HALF MILLION DOLLARS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (United Press).—Seventh-Day Adventists throughout the country next week will make a sacrifice for the cause of Gospel mission work. Leaders of the denomination have set the week apart and expect the 4,000 churches in this country to contribute $500,000 in this one offering.

Clergymen and other workers in Adventist churches throughout the world will unite in appeals for mission funds during the week. Domestic budgets are to be pared, so that a part of the money ordinarily spent here will become available for foreign missions.

The in-gathering of the offering will occur on Dec. 1 in all the churches at which time special services will be held.

Food For The Girl, If You Lover Her Means a Lot

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (United Press).—Gastons before dinner—chickens after. This is what will happen if you don't earn to order food at hotels, boys and girls.

Gaston says so. "Ah, the messes they choose! No wonder there are so many blighted romances! Creamy stuff like Chicken à la King! Worse yet, they eat sandwiches by thousands!

"Who can associate love and sandwiches?" demands Gaston, whose last name is Thierry. He is chef at a leading hotel here.

A love menu should be light. Gaston suggests as an ideal for the after-theatre dinner a grapefruit supreme, lobster à la Americaine and some celery and olives. Nothing more.

Otto Welti, another prominent chef, gives first aid to the love-lover like this:

"The repast correctly ordered is love's greatest asset. If the man is a bit dull, black coffee will increase his attentiveness. There is the danger that coffee will make him restless. If this is the case he should dance. Some sort of bird generally makes a good love food. Light, flaky pastries often bring happy results."

Oyster-eating takes the sparkle out of conversation, Otto declared.

"But that greatest aid to love—it is gone. It was champagne."

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 24.—The strong arm of the law decided that safety lay in retreat when he clashed with a brawny girl during Armistice Day parade. The cop, somewhat irritated by the unruly crowd, became furious when the girl playfully tipped his hat over his eyes and gave one of them a vigorous shove. In an instant several of them were all over him. After several minutes of kicking, scratching and hairpulling he sought safety in the crowd, minus several handfuls of hair.

Give Your Sole a Genuine Treat

You have thrown many a pair of good shoes away just because the soles were worn through. Perhaps the counters were out of shape, and the welts may have been "shot". Don't do it again. No matter what the condition of the shoe, if the upper is good we can rebuild it and make it almost like new. Perhaps there is a pair of shoes in your closet right this minute that need attention. Bring them to us and permit us to advise you. They may be saved, and many more weeks of wear put into them at very small expense. Be thrifty—have 'em repaired.

A HOME DRESSMAKING

By JEANNE ROLAND (Copyright 1923 by Pen-Art Service, Inc.)

A Dress of Unusual Charm

A Variant of the Straight-Line Type

This Paris model steps out with a little more than the usual charm, and features a cape lined with cherry color satin which overhangs the bodice black of the dress itself. The girdle is of black and cherry ribbon, while the embroidery features these tones also.

Approved and accepted by Paris, is the verdict on this frock of black satin. It has the long slender lines that are expressive of youth, simplicity and smartness and introduces a new arrangement of the cape that merges into the drapery of the panels at the side. The cape is lined with satin of contrasting color and the rippled cuffs of the sleeves are treated in the same way. To make this design the home dressmaker will need four and three-quarter yards of black and three-quarter yards of cherry color satin.

The embroidery on the front of the blouse and on the corners of the side panels is done in red and black silk, with a touch of gold outlining the entire design. Two yards of red and four yards of black ribbon will be required for the girdle. Figure I shows how the three strands of ribbon are first sewn together to start the braid.

After the three ends are securely fastened, wind the right strand over the center, then the left strand, passing from right to left, as one would braid the hair. When the girdle is as long as desired, fasten the opposite ends. Be sure to keep the ribbon flat while braiding. If desired the ends may be finished with rosettes of the ribbon, with gold centers, or fancy buttons may be used to hold the girdle in place at the front and the ends finished at the back with broad loops and streamers in each effect.

The cape is bound with bias folds of black satin.

SLAYER OF RASPUTIN COMING TO THE UNITED STATES.

Prince Felix Youssoupeff & wife

Prince Felix Youssoupeff and his wife, of the Russian nobility, are soon to arrive in New York as the guests of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr. His wife was Princess Irene, daughter of Grand Duke Alexander, cousin of the late Czar Nicholas. Prince Felix was the leader of the band of young nobles who decided to do away with the treacherous monk, Rasputin, who held the Czar and the Czarina under his mystic spell. The monk was invited to the Youssoupeff Palace, in Petrograd, where poison was mixed with his wine. The poison failed to work, and Prince Felix fired six bullets into his body, which was then thrown through a hole in the ice on the River Neva. For his share in the killing the Prince was banished from court and interned in his country estate until the overthrow of the Czar.
